

Indiana Senior Living

Greencroft Retirement Communities – Live, Here.

For some people, retirement means rediscovering passions and exploring new pursuits. For others, it's about purposeful living and savoring the moment. Whatever retirement means to you, Greencroft Retirement Communities has the community where you can spend the "best" time of your life.

Greencroft Retirement Communities serves people age 55 and older through independent living, assisted living, health-care facilities, community senior centers, adult day services and home-based services. With campuses in Goshen, Middlebury and South Bend, Indiana, Greencroft draws residents from across the region and around the country.

Middlebury – Indiana's "Mayberry"

Greencroft Middlebury has a hometown appeal combined with a carefree lifestyle – great for making new friends, expressing creativity or fulfilling lifelong dreams.

Greencroft Middlebury is a unique combination of scenery, commerce, culture and values. It offers the traditional advantages of living in your own home and the benefits of a thriving neighborhood. The community center is a hub of activity, including educational programs, volunteer activities and special events.

Middlebury homes are designed with seniors in mind. The community offers a choice of duplex or four-plex plans featuring front porches and scenic views.

South Bend – Big City Feel, Small Town Appeal

Minutes from The University of Notre Dame, Greencroft's Southfield Village offers the comfort and serenity of a countryside setting in an urban environment, combined with the most up-to-date assisted living program in the South Bend area.

The professional staff members, selected for their caring attitude, make a real difference in residents' lives, providing individualized attention, care and companionship. The Arbors assisted living apartments are specially designed for individuals who need supportive services on a daily basis. The Meadows provides skilled and long-term nursing care.

Common areas for dining, activities, reading, lounging, religious worship and family get-togethers ensure residents stay active and interested in life.

Goshen – County Seat Appeal

Greencroft Goshen is nestled in the heart of a county seat with access to many community services. Adjacent Goshen College opens the door to many cultural events, plays and concerts year-round. In addition, the Elkhart County 4H fair is one of the largest in the country.

Greencroft Goshen was accredited in 1990 as a continuing care retirement community (CCRC), one of the first 100 CCRCs in the nation. It serves 1,200 residents in the full continuum of care from independent living to assisted living to healthcare facilities. Services include in- and outpatient rehabilitative therapies for people of all ages and adult day services. A serene neighborhood of walking paths, green areas and common spaces, Greencroft Goshen sets high standards for compassionate independence and secure retirement living.

"I am of the opinion that, though we get older in years, we can still remain young in spirit. One is never too old to set new goals and dream new dreams of things to accomplish."

– Greencroft Goshen resident Ruthe Kerlin, 88, who recently did a tandem skydiving jump.

Greencroft has long been a respected name in northern Indiana for senior housing, healthcare facilities and hospitality services. Its record of successful management experience has earned Greencroft a reputation as one of the finest retirement communities in the Midwest.
